

Did you know that you can donate shares instead of cash, and still receive a tax deduction for donations over $2.00?

ShareGift Australia is a not-for-profit organisation that provides shareholders with an easy way to sell their shares and donate the sale proceeds to charity. You, or someone you know, may have a small parcel of shares - often barely worth selling due to the cost of brokerage fees. Or you may have a larger parcel that you are able to generously donate without brokerage fees denting your donation.

Selling and donating to ShareGift Australia means you don't have to engage a stockbroker, there are no brokerage fees and should the proceeds of the sale exceed $50.00, you can nominate Weenthunga Health Network to benefit from ShareGift Australia's donations.

All you have to do is sign the share sale donation form available on the ShareGift Australia website and remember to recommend the Weenthunga Health Network. Each quarter, ShareGift Australia donates the share sale proceeds to eligible charities, as determined by the Board and guided by the recommendations received from shareholders. To date, all eligible charities nominated have received donations from ShareGift Australia in excess of the amount recommended.

You can find out more about the process by going to www.sharegiftaustralia.org.au

ShareGift Australia is a public ancillary fund with Deductible Gift Recipient (DGR) status which allows for the deductibility of donations. This means they are governed by legal requirements which prevent them from passing on the exact proceeds of each share sale directly to a shareholder's recommended charity. Donations received are pooled which enables ShareGift Australia to round up the donations they make to each charity.
